THE TALK OF THE TOWN is the American Legion CARNIVAL to be held June 29 and 30, July 1, 4, 6, 7, and 8 at the Carnival grounds in back of the Shopping Center. Make plans to visit the Carnival during its run. You are sure to have a good time, and who knows, you might win the 1961 Tempest Automobile that will be given away. A spectacular Fireworks display is planned for the 4th of July. The whole family will want to see that one!

IN ANSWER to the many inquiries about the new artwork that leads this column, it is the work of Doylestown's BILL ERWIN. Bill certainly has a way with a pen or brush.

SORRY TO HEAR that Chalfont's REV. WILLIAM ROEGER has been ill. Bill is one of our favorite people.

ANOTHER CHANGE in publishers has taken place at The Montgomery County Farmer. DON THWAITES is the new publisher there.

FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT OLLIE JOHNSON, one time associated with the Bucks County Inn and other local enterprises has been "Around Town" recently. Ollie tells us he is working in Washington now.

SPEAKING of the Bucks County Inn, we thought that perhaps when former local boy ROLAND RITTER bought the place big things would be happening. Now back on the market, the place is in such run down condition, it is fast becoming a local eyesore. Too bad Mr. Ritter can't do something with it to make Doylestown look a little better at Main and Shewell.

THE JAYCEES were all set to plant some trees and bushes along State Street, but stopped when plans were announced to widen or repave the street. Let's not give up plans altogether. Try Main Street, boys, and get State Street when final plans are completed on the State Street repaving.

SPEAKING OF STATE STREET, have you ever noticed that East State Street and West State Street are several feet off. Stand in front of the Doylestown Inn and look toward The County Theatre and you'll see what we mean. (There's a difference of several feet!)

NOW THAT THEY are going to repave the street, the question is WHEN? We recall, all too well, the last time the street was torn up a few years back, right smack in the middle of the Christmas Shopping season! Maybe a little planning and foresight might prevent another such fiasco.

WONDER WHY The Fountain House doesn't plant some flowers in the window boxes along the front and sides of that famous local hostelry?

TINICUM'S JIM MICHENER and frau have recently returned from an extended trip to Spain. Incidentally, Jim is working on a book on Mexico as a follow-up to his very successful Hawaii.

IN CASE you wanted to get a reprint or two of last month's photo feature on Covered Brides, they are available from this office at 10¢ each. We have had requests from half a dozen states for copies of the article, and it well may become a collector's item.

SARA CLARK, who just recently wrote a book "First Men in Space," conducted an autograph party at The Delaware Bookshop in New Hope on May 27. Illustrator KURT WEISE was also on hand. The New Delaware Bookshop is owned by Ladies Home Journal Associate Editor, LAURA LOU BROOKMAN.

FLAG DAY, The Fourth of July and many other holidays are ever present, and to see that we all have a chance to display the new 50 star flag the VFW Post No. 175 in Doylestown is selling flags at 15% off catalog prices. We approve of this drive very much, and think more patriotism should be shown.

A RECENT VISITOR to the Central Bucks area was KEN RUDOCK of Mt. Carmel, Pa.

CAR SICKNESS is that feeling you get every month when the car payment is due.

ROGER WILLIAMS, a science teacher at Lenape Junior High School, has received an appointment from The National Science Foundation for an earth-science scholarship this summer to be held at Franklin & Marshall College. Mr. Williams was one of 50 persons selected for the scholarship out of 859 applicants. Good Show!

A MISER isn't much fun to live with, but he makes a wonderful ancestor.

ED AND LAURA TAIFER are off to the coast for a short vacation trip. They plan to visit Palm Springs, Los Angeles and Las Vegas.

FORMER LOCAL AUTO MAN, AL ROUP, has returned to Doylestown, where he has associated himself with the Conroy Ford people on West State Street.

THE MEN OF TOHICKON will sponsor a Horse and Pony Show at Hearthstone Farm near Pipersville on June 24. There is still time to enter your horse in the show. Children under 16 are eligible to enter. The Pennsbury High School Band will be on hand to supply music for the affair. For more information and entry blanks contact MARVIN YOUNG, Stump Road, Pipersville, or phone JOE BUTERIA at AX 7-8988.

AN EARLY NOTE. The annual Autumn Fair of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church will be held on September 29th and 30th at the school grounds. Mark that one on your calendar.

ALMOST TOO LATE to be included in this month's edition are these two birth notices: To Mr. and Mrs. WARD CLARK, Doylestown, a son, and to Mr. and Mrs. JAMES LAWFER of Jamison, a daughter. Congratulations!

BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS to the following gents, members of the Doylestown Lions Club: JIM GEMMELL, BILL MATHEWS, SAM SMILEY, and JOHN CREAM. All of them refrain from mentioning the year of birth.

THANKS to Senator HUGH SCOTT for his nice comments on last month's issue. They even read Panorama in Washington, D. C.

AT LAST COUNT, our subscription department counted Panorama subscriptions in about 20 states and in France, Germany, Iran, Japan, and Guam. Panorama does get around. Perhaps you have a friend or relative in a distant town, perhaps a former local resident who would like a subscription to Panorama. Why not send a gift subscription. The rates are still just one dollar a year. Use the coupon on the back page, or a sheet of paper. We want to mention that SUBSCRIPTION RATES will soon have to be increased, so get in under the wire.

PANORAMA is pleased to have been selected by the BUCKS COUNTY FEDERATION of WOMEN'S CLUBS to edit and print their booklet for the House Tour this fall. This is the second large organization that has utilized Panorama's services. Perhaps we might be able to help your group publish and print a booklet.

IRWIN ROBBINS, former manager at the Playhouse Inn, and more recently a co-partner in the ill fated BUCKINGHAM INN (The Barn) has declared bankruptcy at Camden, N. J.

WALTER WINCHELL reported recently that James Lee will stage "An Evening with S. J. Pearlman" to premiere at The Bucks County Playhouse at New Hope. Lee's wife NEVA PATTERSON may be in the cast. Interesting note is that Neva Patterson was at one time Playhouse Producer MIKE ELLIS' wife. (S. J. Pearlman lives just over the Delaware.)

WE HEAR that Wedding Bells may soon be ringing for ELLEN HAPP and GENE LEFEVER.

GLANCING over the press reports of the organized "hate" campaigns against Negroes in the south (Montgomery, Little Rock, etc.) and in the next column, reports of the Nazi atrocities under Hitler and Eichmann, one can't help but think of the analogy between them. We persecute the Nazis and allow the same type of thing to happen here in our own country. No wonder the world thinks we speak "with a forked tongue."

FRED STONE of Kintnersville had a nasty accident in Cross Keys the other week. But Fred pulled out of it with only a couple of scratches. Unfortunately, his car didn't. He's got a new one now.

THE RADIO STATION reports a change in managers. GEORGE PLEASANTS, former manager, left "for greener pastures," and is planning to buy his own radio station. JIM STOLCZ, co-owner of the station, is now manager. By the way, George has been ill recently.

DECATUR STREET'S TONY AND CHARLIE OTT have just returned from a fishing trip to Canada. JIMMY EARHART went along to check on the fish stories. "Wow, you should have seen the ones that got away, or did I tell you about it?"

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CONGRATULATIONS to these fine local folks who celebrated during the month of June: Mr. and Mrs. GUS REQUATE, Mr. and Mrs. HAROLD CHUBB, Mr. and Mrs. JIM GEMMELL, Mr. and Mrs. SAM SMILEY, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. FLUCK, Mr. and Mrs. ED EDGAR, Mr. and Mrs. ELWOOD SPOTTS, Mr. and Mrs. BILL RENZ, Mr. and Mrs. EARL RUCKDESCHEL, Mr. and Mrs. FORREST SOWERS, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN WELSH and Mr. and Mrs. "REDS" DECOURSEY. The gents are all members of the Doylestown LIONS CLUB.

WE HEAR that Quakertown publisher HENRY FREEKING has sold his magazine, the "Bucks County Life," to a trio of Central Bucks folks. Doylestown Attorney and Assemblyman ALAN WILLIAMS and Warrington Builder HERB BARNES are rumored to be two of the new owners. Henry will continue to edit the magazine, and no changes are anticipated. Freeking was the originator of the old Bucks County traveler magazine that recently "folded" in Philadelphia under the banner The Pennsylvania Traveler. Freeking is also the originator of "Old Timers Day" in Quakertown and has long been active in the publishing and public relations field. He is an amazing 82 years old, and gets around better than some folks of 40. He has vowed "to live to a hundred, even if it kills me!"

THE OLD GUARD, an organization of Senior Citizens, meet every second and fourth Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the Presbyterian Church educational building. All retired men in the area are welcome to stop in for a gathering and to join. Further information is available from club director, GEORGE EWALD, 22 Kreutz Ave., town.

Harrisburg last month. Local Lions in attendance were JOHN MUELLER, TED RUSH and Lion's President GEORGE CARVER, JR. The boys said they had a great time.

LOCAL BOYS graduating from Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture (It will always be the Farm School to me) included JAN FREDERICK LARSEN and EDGAR H. MULLEN, JR. of Chalfont, and JAMES R. HOOVER and JOHN C. KUYPER of Doylestown.

THIS IS polio season and folks are urged to get their Salk Vaccine shots as soon as possible. Remember an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

OUR CONGRESSMAN, WILLARD CURTIN, has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives in Washington to create a "United States Academy of Foreign Service." Willard told us we need such an academy to insure that young men and women can be given proper training for this all important role in today's and tomorrow's world. We think this is a long needed institution, and are justly proud that Willard should be the one to start the ball rolling. Might even be a good idea to locate here in Bucks County. What about it, Willard?

WHEN BOYER AND BODLEY were campaigning for County Commissioners awhile back, they offered as one of their "Campaign Promises" the formation of a Bucks County Fair. This was evidently so much talk, because since their installation, nothing has been done in this direction. HOWEVER, a forward thinking group from up county have formed the "Bucks County Fair, Inc.," as a non-profit corporation. HOWARD ARNOLD of Silverdale told us that the aims of the group are to promote tourism in the county, with the long range plan of re-starting the old Bucks County Fair. Your editor is happy to number himself among the many distinguished charter members of the organization, and whole heartedly backs the plan.

TWO MORE industries have located in our area through the efforts of The Bucks County Industrial Development Corporation. Atlas Electronics will build in the Warrington Industrial Park, and E. I. Dupont Nemours have moved into a building already constructed in Warrington Township.

DON'T FORGET that June 23, Friday, starts the annual DOYLESTOWN OPEN at the Doylestown Country Club. Should be a good one!

SPEAKING of the Country Club, the next big dance at the club house will be on July 22. The "Mid-Summer Dance." JUS and ROBERTA BODLEY are host and hostess for the affair.

WATCH FOR a bia contest in the next issue of PANORAMA.

IT WAS NICE of the daily 'tri-county newspaper' that's published here in town to do a "follow-up" story to the Panorama Covered Bridge feature that appeared in last month's issue. Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, and by golly they have been flattering us like crazy the past few months. Fellas, we have a couple of nice features this time that you might like to rewrite for your big city daily. If you need any help, we will be more than happy to help you, any time!

CONGRATULATIONS TO Mr. and Mrs. P. A. BOND of Ingham Road, Aquetong, on the celebration of their 30th wedding anniversary on the first.

HERB HALDEMAN has been re-elected to an eighth term as Treasurer of The Bucks GOP County Committee. He is a former Register of Wills and is now Deputy Register of Wills at the Courthouse.

IT'S MAYOR CLEMENS now if you please! Governor Lawrence signed a bill in Harrisburg the other day proclaiming that all Burgess' now have the title of Mayor. Thus, Doylestown now has a Mayor . . . or it will have on September 1, when the new law goes into effect.

NEW OFFICERS of the Bucks County Bar Association are FREDERICK E. SMITH, Esq., President, T. SIDNEY CADWALLADER, Esq., Vice President. J. FRANKLIN HARTZELL, Esq., is Treasurer and WILLIAM THATCHER, Esq., is Secretary. Members of the Board include FRANK GALLAGHER, PEARCE AUL, and PETER VERDERAME.

SIXTEEN artists are taking part in an exhibition of paintings entitled "As You Like It" at The Parry Barn in New Hope through June 18. The exhibit is open daily from 1 to 5 daily except Monday. The Parry Barn has scheduled a showing of "non-objective" paintings for public view June 23 through July 16.

WANTED

Could it be you? We're looking for new customers in this old, time-tested bank. Perhaps a youngster with a small savings account; a wife (we don't like that term "housewife!") who would like to organize her household spending so she can trace where it goes, how much, for what, instead of dangleing on a thread of uncertainty.

Might be a businessman who requires financing but doesn't know quite how to go about it. (Someone should tell him it can be arranged here privately, promptly, and without red tape.)

"Service" is a much-over-used word, but it's all a bank has to sell. Prompt, intelligent, pleasing and congenial service relationship with customers, be their accounts large or small.

Service is precisely what literally thousands of your friends, business acquaintances and neighbors get at "Good Banking Headquarters." You can't beat it. Join 'em!

Rambling with Russ

by A. RUSSELL THOMAS

"THE MERRY MONTH OF JUNE" affords us many opportunities to be proud of the fact that we live in Central Bucks County. It is the real "marrying month" as well as the big graduation-month. Central Bucks High has graduated its largest class and our Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture has conferred degrees on a very admirable group of seniors. It is also the month that crabgrass will make its 1961 debut and the Chapman Swimming Pools in Doylestown again afford the top-recreation spot for thousands of swimmers and beginners.

ACE REPORTER Les Trauch, a former long-time newsroom associate of mine, must have felt rewarded as an alumnus of Allentown's Muhlenberg College, after the Mules badly defeated Johns Hopkins University (Baltimore) in a recent College Bowl TV program.

We hope that in the future, it will be possible in Doylestown, to have as many American Flags displayed on legal holidays (especially Memorial Day), as there are parking meters. . . . A fifty-fifty division would be a big improvement. . . . There is an excellent movement under way, I understand, whereby a group will see to it that the national colors are displayed on holidays. . . . It will be the duty of this outfit to place the flags in the containers along our Main street in the morning, collect them at night, and then store them after each flag is marked, until the next holiday. . . . Eighteen American Flags along D-Town's Main street on Memorial Day was not an inspiring site, when there is room for at least a hundred.

Doylestown Borough Manager J. Gardner Pearsall is one of the best-informed Pennsylvanians on borough municipal affairs. He is an outstanding member of the program committee for the 50th Anniversary Convention of the Pennsylvania Boroughs Association that will be held at the Philadelphia-Sheraton, June 18-21.

The Doylestown Memorial Day parade this year was the finest we have seen in years. . . . A lot of old-timers helped make it just that, in spite of the fact that World War I buddy of mine, Harry Hobensack, marched several blocks with his Legion cap on backwards. . . . I should criticize, for I wasn't even in line of march with the medals I received for falling off the curb in Paris in 1917.

CONGRATULATIONS: Sheriff Harold Dando, for topping the recent primary ticket, and to former Bucks County Commissioner Johnny Welsh on his recent lucrative State appointment. Both men are excellent public servants, even though they differ in politics. They are going to have one thing in common, come January next, they will both be in the "$10,000 and upward bracket."

MY FAVORITE Justice of the Peace: "If you have half a mind to get married, do it, that's all it takes," said my friend Clayt, recently.

MEMBER—DOYLESTOWN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MAY 1961

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A great step forward has been made here in Central Bucks County by the Chamber of Commerce. At a recent directors' meeting, the Chamber created a committee to promote Tourism in our area. Your editor is quite proud to have been appointed chairman of this committee, and will strive hard to cover ground.

Since starting in the publishing business here in Doylestown, Panorama has uncovered many little-known historical spots, that except for some old timers, few persons know about. Our Central Bucks is perhaps one of the richest historical areas in the Northeast.

How many persons realize that Daniel Boone's parents lived in New Britain for awhile? That George Washington's Army encamped in the area around The Fountain House on the way to the Battle of Trenton? That our museum on Pine Street is recognized around the world as having the finest collection of Early Americana? There is so much more that can and will be brought out as the committee's work progresses.

These sites need to be marked. The general public should be told of the unlimited "vacation at home" possibilities that are available right here in Central Bucks County.

The first step has been taken. The committee can only be as successful as the local citizenry's help. Can we count on you? If you are as proud of your town and county as we are, I know we can!

KIDS, BIKES AND ACCIDENTS

Recently, your editor was driving down West State Street, when zooming out of a side street without warning, came four youngsters on bicycles. Two rode down one side of the street, and two rode down the other, swerving into traffic.

Up country the other afternoon, a newspaper carrier boy was delivering his papers by swerving from one side of the road to the other tossing the papers on the lawns.

These are just two incidents I have seen this past week. I'm sure that every reader can name instances of the same "reckless" driving by youngsters on bikes. These same youngsters will, in a few years, be driving automobiles. (I hope not the same way.)

It is our duty as citizens and parents to explain traffic safety to every youngster who rides a bike, as an accident preventative. After some youngster has been hit by a car, possibly killed or maimed for life, it's fine and dandy to blame the driver and say he should have been watching for the bike-riding youngster, but this will never replace a child's life or limb.

Now, when more and more bikes are appearing on the scene, is the time to instruct and "drill into their little towheads" the importance of bicycle safety. The time is now, NOT after there's blood on the highway!

LET'S GO SWIMMING-1906

"Having a wonderful time, wish you were here," comes this picture from Sea Isle City, N. J., in 1906. We don't know who the folks in this photo are, but it looks to us if they ever ventured near the water, they would probably sink like a stone. Contrast this with what you'll be seeing on the beach in 1961. (Ed. Note — I personally prefer to see a bikini on a shapely miss than these swim duds. How about you?)

CENTRAL BUCKS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MONTHLY REPORT by William O. Kline, Pres.

The Central Bucks Chamber of Commerce welcomed two new members at its recent meeting, George McGlaughlin, Advertising, and Charles Pacek, Proprietor of the Key Casino.

The Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber has been re-activated with the following officers being elected at the first meeting which was very well attended: President, Louis Pearlman; Vice President, Wynne Nyce; Treasurer, Ed Garner; Secretary, Jean T. Bates. Joe Kenny was appointed chairman of the Public Relations Committee with the following members to assist him: Barney Freiberg, Evelyn Nelson, Art Kinney, Milton Rutherford and Kay Foster. The Retail Merchants are cooperating and endeavoring to offer the best possible shopping facilities and conditions to the many residents in our Central Bucks area.

The Chamber of Commerce has established a Tourist Committee with Dick Alliger as chairman, to aid the many tourists who come to Doylestown. The Central Bucks area has much to offer to tourists and Dick's committee is interested in making the tourists visit to our area as pleasant as possible.

Mr. Burpee of the W. Atlee Burpee Seed Company has donated many packages of various types of Marigold seeds for distribution by the Chamber. These seeds are available at the Chamber office at 24 N. Main and the public is cordially invited to stop in and secure some for planting.

SWIMMING

The swimming has started at Tohickon Valley Park, a mile west of Point Pleasant on Cafferty Road, according to the Bucks County Park Board.

The park, purchased last summer, has become popular for family picnics and swimming. This year the Park Board staff has made substantial improvements to the bathhouse and pool.

Daily charges for swimming are: 5 yrs. and under—free, 6 yrs. to 15 yrs.—$.25, 16 yrs. and over—$.60. Season tickets are available this year and are sold at the pool. Season rates are: 5 yrs. and under—free, 6 yrs. to 15 yrs.—$6.00, 16 yrs. and over—$8.00, and Family—$20.00. Swimming hours are from 1 to 9 p.m.

Swimming lessons are planned to be offered if an instructor can be found.

Lifeguards for the season are David Smith of Richlandtown, James Frederick of Perkasio, and Patrick Cavanaugh of Pipersville.

Mike Rutledge

Are there any artists among the readers? If any of you readers have a flare for art, I've got an interesting article for you this time.

I had the pleasure of meeting one of Doylestown's artists the other day — Miss Helen Louise Woerner. A native of Philadelphia, she is very happy to be living here in our town at 340 W. Court St. H. L. W. has a studio at 226 W. Wood St., here in Doylestown, too!

Helen has quite a "nack" for

A Furlong girl was one of the Blue Ribbon winners at the recent Devon Horse Show. Cynthia Wells Hankins, riding in the lead-line class at the show, took a blue ribbon and a silver cup in the event.

Cynthia, age four, was entered in the class by her father, Harry Hankins, riding the horse "Little Mike," owned by Harry Burmeister of Doylestown.

This marked the sixth horse show the youngster has ridden in this year, and has thus far collected four Blue Ribbons and two red, or second place awards.

CHAMBER SETS TOURISM COMMITTEE

AIRPORT AUTHORITY

Bucks County now has a newly formed group to determine and establish a county airport, which will best serve the present and future needs of the public and industry in Bucks County.

Doylestown Contractor John C. Elfman was elected chairman of the group at their first meeting held on Wednesday, May 24. Other officers of the group include: Samuel Pierce, Silverdale, as Vice-Chairman; Joseph A. Ciccone, Jr., Warminster, as Treasurer; Jacques L. Francine, Point Pleasant, as Secretary; and Robert C. Ruehl, Jr. Langhorne as Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.

The Central Bucks Chamber of Commerce, under the leadership of President William O. Kline has appointed a new committee to encourage Tourism in the Central Bucks County Area.

The committee, headed by Doylestown Panorama Publisher Richard Alliger, includes Walter Conti, George Carver, Jr., State Assemblyman Alan Williams, and Jack Potter, Curator of the Mercer Museum.

The committee's first projects include erecting signs at the entrance to Doylestown, marking local historical spots, and preparing a brochure about Doylestown to be sent to persons inquiring about our town and for distribution at hotels, motels, and conventions.

"Central Bucks County has a wealth of historical and natural points of interest for all, and most of them have never been exploited to the extent they should be," Chairman Alliger stated. "Our historical points of interest are so badly marked that even natives have a hard time finding them."

"When folks speak of Bucks County, the average person conjures up a picture of New Hope, and writes off the rest of our county. We hope to broaden that viewpoint by marking and making these spots easier to find, and then telling folks about it."

Alliger further urged interested citizens in the area to co-operate in the project and welcome ideas from all.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

Congratulations on your May '61 editorial about Senator Joseph Clark! That is the sort of comment I think an editor is for. Thanks.

To me, your Clark editorial was like the work of Henry Hough of the Martha's Vineyard Gazette. There is an article about him in the Readers Digest.

Panorama is interesting and useful. The best of luck to you.

PANORAMA

Dear Mr. Alliger:

You may recall that in response to a request from you in April for a photograph and a biographical sketch, my Administrative Assistant sent you the material and wrote, "We are also adding the "Panorama" to the Senator's newsletter and press release mailing lists, which will help keep you up to date on Senator Clark's activities." Obviously, therefore, you began to receive more press releases from my office than you received before; not because I am sending more out—I am not—but because you were receiving all of them, not just some, as you had formerly.

The franking privilege is given Members of Congress in order to answer the large volume of mail a Congressman, and particularly a Senator receives; and to keep his constituents informed. I have never abused this privilege.

Your editorial was interesting, but inaccurate.

Sincerely yours,

JOE CLARK

Editor's Comment — Senator Clark's letter is in response to the editorial that appeared in last month's Panorama, in which we stated that Senator Clark is apparently running for re-election, due to the great volumes of releases we were suddenly barraged with here at the Panorama office. We questioned whether Senator Clark was perhaps campaigning at Government or taxpayer expense.

Our reason in calling this matter to the attention of our readers was that we felt an elected official should be consistent in keeping his constituents informed, not just when election time approaches.

Mr. Clark is a fine man and we have the greatest respect for him. He is, however, in the unfortunate position of holding a job that "Boss" Bill Green of Philadelphia is eyeing, and perhaps is a little nervous over what the "Boss" may try to pull, and thus wants to get every line of favorable publicity he can get.

A further comment from the editors desk is that we much prefer to have a man of Senator Clark's stature in the Senate than the type of man personified by "Big City Boss" Bill Green whose main qualification for the job seems to be that he is "owed favors" by a lot of men in Washington, from the President on down.

To the Editor of "Panorama":

I desire to congratulate you and the good people of Bucks County, Pa., upon the excellent journal you are producing. I have been in practically every one of 50 states, and I have never found or seen a local magazine, size of of town and county considered, that is or was the equal in news and appearance to "Panorama." I wish you and it the greatest of success.

HARDIN PRICE

Sirs:

Enclosed is my dollar for the PANORAMA for a year, starting with the June issue. A copy of the May issue was sent me, and it is most interesting.

Kansas is just celebrating its Centennial Celebration, and I wish to show some of our local newspaper and periodical editors your splendid magazine, hoping that some of them may be inspired to do something similar about our local area. I'm especially fascinated with your notes and articles of historical interest. I believe that Kansas has only two covered bridges left in the state, and it may be down to only one now.

Editor:

The picture of the Fountainville tollgate (May Panorama) looks very familiar. The man on the porch was my grandfather, Martin H. Smith. He was a native Bucks Countian, having been born at Smith's Corner. For the greater part of his life he lived in the county, following the business of blacksmith at Buckingham, Limeport and New Galena. He was tollgate keeper at Fountainville for 14 years.

He married Mary L. Naylor of Paxson's Corner. They lived to celebrate their 65th Wedding Anniversary. The building in the photo was in front of the Bishop property, facing Route 313.

CHIEF TAMANEND

EARLY INDIAN PEACEMAKER

by

ROY C. KULP

Panorama Historical Editor

On the bank of "Spruce Hill" also called "Prospect Hill" along the Neshaminy Creek in New Britain township near Chalfont, is the grave of Tamenend, the celebrated 18th century Indian, Prince of Peace, buried here in 1750.

The letters of William Penn eloquently testify to the wisdom and honesty of this great Delaware Indian Chief, and the name Tamenend was made immortal by the famous American author, James Fenimore Cooper, in his well known "Last of the Mohicans."

According to Indian tradition, Tamenend in his youth was famed for his mighty exploits as a hunter and as a warrior. After one of his great battles with another invading tribe, he devoted himself to the acts of peace, realizing the uselessness of wars, and his tribe was known throughout the Americas as a just and peaceful tribe.

Even the great Inca of Peru, hearing of his leadership and his popularity, dispatched messengers to see him, begging that two chiefs might meet at a given location an equal distance from the dominions of each, and upon his departure he gave the following words of wisdom to his tribesmen.

"I recommend to you the turtle, who patiently carries on his back the earth we inhabit. But, for his benevolence in remaining afloat on the vast ocean on which he swims, our fertile lands and its people would soon sink to obscurity. The abhorrence that he feels when our people lead lives of idleness and vice, when they quarrel and injure their neighbors, has more than once impelled him to hide his head thus dipping a part of his shell under water and hurling to destruction those who were no longer deserving of happiness. If then, ye would attain long life, be honest, upright and industrious."

To this day the turtle remains the symbol of the Delaware Indians. In his later years the great chief was believed by the red men to have the gift of holding secret communication with the Great Spirit. From this source, the ardent young patriots of the American Revolution when casting about for a truly native patron saint, jestingly seized upon Saint Tammany.

During the Revolution the Sons of Saint Andrew and the Saint George were Tories, so it is not strange that the rebels defiantly dubbed themselves Sons of Saint Tammany.

It is known that the motto of the Delawares was "Tamenend and Liberty." This maxim was also adopted by the Revolutionary clubs, which, during the war were known as Sons of Liberty or Tammany Societies. The head of the Indian thus gradually came to signify liberty and quite naturally found its way to the face of the American penny.

The old ship builders of Wilmington and Philadelphia delighted to carve the image of the good chief as a figurehead averring that he rode the prows of their ships as the patron saint of the Delaware fisherman.

After the war for independence the Society of the Cincinnati was formed with a membership limited to officers of revolutionary fame. When Washington was inaugurated a group of patriots in New York conceived the idea of forming a benevolent association — an order to maintain patriotic traditions, a society to further peace with the Indians and above all a brotherhood of true democracy to counter-balance the aristocratic tendencies of the Society of the Cincinnati. Washington had become first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen and was the chief magistrate over thirteen states. Thus it came about that Tammany Hall was named in honor of the Indian, who had been overlord of thirteen tribes and was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of the sons of the soil. He was the king of the confederation of the Lenni Lenapes whose sachems assembled to meet Penn under the elm tree at Shakamaxon. His name appears upon the first treaty of 1683 by which the Indians relinquished claim to the tract lying between the Pennypack and the Neshaminy creeks, now parts of Bucks, Montgomery and Philadelphia counties. Penn's far seeing policy was to pay repeatedly for lands in order to avoid conflicting claims. The same territories of Tamenend were again deeded to the proprietors of Pennsylvania in 1632 and a third time in 1697. Each purchase more clearly defined the boundaries excepting to the west which were

LET'S TAKE A TRIP

MUSIC from the RINGING ROCKS

by

Richard J. Alliger

In June, 1890, perhaps the strangest musical concert ever performed took place here in Bucks County! The concert featured a brass band, with Dr. J. J. Ott of Pleasant Valley at the Rock Pile!

No, we are not trying to be funny, nor was Dr. Ott. He was merely demonstrating the vast musical qualities of the now famed Ringing Rocks of Bucks County. He actually played several musical selections on the rocks gathered from one of the three such outcroppings of "musical rocks" in Bucks County.

EDITOR'S TRIP

Seventy-one years after the concert, your editor made the trek "up-river" to Bridgetown township to see for himself what had been described to him for many years as "one of the natural wonders of the world." I didn't do as well as Dr. Ott, but I did get off part of a chorus of "Sweet Adeline" on the "granites."

This is the only sign marking the entrance to Bucks County's Ringing Rocks in Bridgetown Township. Directions on how to find this unusual rock formation are contained in the story below. (Photos by the author).

struck with a hammer or other metallic object, they give out with a bell like sound, the tones varying according to their size and qualities. Some are decidedly more musical than others. Some have tones of old farm bells, while others have no sound at all. The musical sounds are not lost in removing them from the field.

FAMILY TRIP

For the family looking for a "different" Sunday afternoon outing, we suggest a trip to Ringing Rocks. They are a bit difficult to find, but with perseverance and a few questions of kind local residents, you should be able to locate them. From Central Bucks County, take Route 611 to Kintnersville at the intersection of Route 611 and River Road (Route 32). Follow River Road about 4 miles to Upper Black Eddy. Turn right, following the signs in Haney's Restaurant. The first road to the right after passing Haney's Restaurant is your road. Follow this road about a half mile, and you will chance upon a small sign as illustrated on this page. A short walk through the woods, and you're there. Wear old shoes and bring a hammer. The kids will love it, and you don't have to have a union card to make music on the rocks.

The only kind of happiness you get to keep is the kind you give away.—Anonymous

As soon as a person gets a job, he stops looking for work.

Not being a geologist, I won't go into the geological explanation of the formations. There are but seven of these fields of rocks with musical qualities in the state, and Bucks County has been graced with three, Ringing Rocks, above Upper Black Eddy, Stoney Gardens in Haycock Township, and Rockey Valley in Springfield Township.

LARGEST ROCK PILE

The Ringing Rocks at Upper Black Eddy is perhaps the largest of the known fields, containing about five acres of rocks. All are of irregular shape and weighing from a few ounces to several tons. They are completely denuded of by erosion. They do not contain a particle of soil or vegetation other than some lichens.

PENNSBURY

A HOME OF HISTORY

By EMILY FAIRCHILD

William Penn's fabulous home in the new world, Pennsbury Manor, stands behind formal gardens and a long avenue of trees extending to the Delaware River.

It looks through pink-tinted window panes at the twentieth century stream of yachts and ore boats with the same aloof gaze its earlier counter-part bent on the packet boats and rafts of Penn's day.

Penn received the charter for "Pensilvania" in 1681 from Charles II in payment of a claim of sixteen thousand pounds owed his deceased father, Admiral Sir William Penn, by the British Crown.

On his first visit to Pennsylvania in 1682, the plans for Pennsbury were begun. Penn returned to England in August 1684 and did not visit his province again for fifteen years. During this time the Manor buildings were constructed.

The impressive three story brick Manor House was a dream of Penn's made real. It was precisely built to his specifications under the supervision of William Markham. Furnishings for the decorations, including tiles for the fireplaces, had to be imported from England. Surrounding the Manor House are other buildings which contributed to the self-sufficiency of the estate. Among them are an ice house, a smoke-house where meats were preserved, and a bake and brew house. There are also barn, stable and a separate office building.

Despite his scrupulous attention to detail in the construction of Pennsbury, Penn spent surprisingly little time in it after it was completed. He lived there with his second wife Hannah Callowhill Penn, between 1699 and 1701. A son John was born there in 1701.

It was in November 1701 that

Penn left the Manor for the last time. A century later his magnificent new world dream home was fallen and decayed. The present buildings are a reconstruction following his original plans. They were begun in 1932 and completed in 1938. Pennsbury has been refurbished since with authentic pieces of the Colonial period.

Penn had his private office in the Manor House in a room to the left of the entrance hall, directly across from the best parlor. The office adjoins the retiring room. Evidences of "the proprietor" are numerous: his desk, his quill pens, his prodigious journal.

The dining room is dominated by an enormous harvest table. Behind it stands a large polished wooden napkin press.

Beside the stairway stands a Bull's-eye clock exactly like the one Penn owned. This was made in Bristol, England. Its hands are shaped as sword and scissor, denoting man's work and woman's work. A round piece of glass set into the base gives it the name Bull's-eye.

On the second floor are four bedrooms and the nursery. The only bed which doesn't have a canopy is Penn's. A highboy which belonged to Penn's housekeeper, Rebecca Blackfan, who lived at the house till around 1716, is especially prominent in the guest room. Ming vases line the mantelpiece above the guest room fireplace.

Children gaze with awe at the brass bed warmers hanging from each bedroom fireplace and gape over the large spinning wheel in the kitchen. More interesting to mothers, perhaps, are the needlework forms in several rooms and the handloomed spread on the bed in Letitia Penn's room. She was a daughter by Penn's first wife Guliemla Springett.

path links the towering ramp of the Pennsylvania-New Jersey Turnpike bridge and the orange smoke belched by the Fairless Steel Works.

Pennsbury pays tribute to a distracted, hurrying modern world which ropes off a piece of its past and takes time to restore and preserve it so that present and future generations can feel and respect the forging spirit of their ancestors. For no matter what the challenge was in its era, still it is the eye of 1700 gazing on 1961 that sees the world rose-colored.

"We cannot always oblige, but we can always speak obligingly."

"A man who is content with what he has done will never become famous."

"The only time some people work like a horse is when the boss rides them."

Hannah Penn's room, Letitia's room, and the nursery are realistically reproduced. Curiosity leads the Pennsbury visitor to a lingering look at the rope twist design commonly used in this period.

Executed in small detail on the Bull's-eye clock, it is also used on the whisk broom and candle holder in the office and on the candle holder in the retiring room. The office candle holder shows a reverse design, the retiring room holder, a tapered design. Interesting feats in a handcrafting era.

Antiquity and the Atomic era find a significant contiguity along the banks of the Delaware at Pennsbury. A channel dredger anchored at the foot of the Manor

KETTLE SOAP

Although factories for making soap appeared in the American Colonies at an early date, most housewives made their own supply from a combination of waste fats and wood ashes or lye. This mixture, boiled outdoors in large iron kettles, produced a strong but effective soap. Housewives prided themselves in the quality of the soap they made and sometimes scented the milder mixtures with lavender or other herbs. Soapwort, a perennial plant that is often seen along roads or railroad tracks, was also cultivated in many Colonial gardens. The roots, stems and leaves produced a lather that cleansed and was considered particularly good for delicate fabrics and laces.

Folk Festival Will Feature Dutch Customs

Harrisburg, June—The nation's folk festival capital — Kutztown, Pennsylvania — is preparing for its annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival to be held July 1 through July 8, according to the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce.

More than 100,000 persons are expected for the 1961 event, the nation's largest folk festival. As in the past the folk culture of the Plain Dutch (Amish, Mennonites and Dunkards) and the Gay Dutch (Lutherans and Reformed) will be featured.

An added attraction for 1961, the culture of the Bush Meeting Dutch will be presented. This sect holds religious camp meetings or "bush meetings." The Dutch word for woods is "bush."

Another addition will be a special feature pertaining to the customs of courtship and weddings among the Plain Dutch and the Gay Dutch.

Craftsmen will again be busy during the 8-day festivities, making baskets, brooms, barrels and fish nets.

Other sidelights of the celebration are stage and movie presentations, a panorama of horse-and-buggy farming in the Dutch country, the old-fashioned baking of bread, and cider-making with an 18th century press.

Kutztown, on U.S. 222, is midway between Allentown and Reading.

"CB'S HALL OF FITNESS"

The girl's physical education department of Central Bucks High School proudly announces the members of its 1961 Hall of Fitness. To be eligible for this honor, a girl must rank between the 90th and 100th percentile in each of seven events. The percentiles are based on national standards. The events included in the AAHPER FITNESS TEST are: pullups, situps, standing broad jump, shuttle run, softball throw, 50 yard dash, and 600 yard run-walk.

Seniors who qualify are: Mary Camburn, Paula Lucas, Louise Orr, Louise Royahn, Peggy Schenk, and Joanne Transue. Junior girls include: Mary Jane Bishop, Barbara Bogert, Fran, Dunlap, Carole Lutz, Lynn Richardson, Nancy Springs, and Pheobe Williams. The biggest representation is from the sophomore class: Rita Barnes, Linda Bowman, Peggy Bramble, Carol Bush, Susan Friedland, Beth Godshall, Judy Gustafson, Linda Nixon, Martha Prickett, Darlene Warren and Faye Wimmer. Freshman members are: Janis Good, Dawn McNally, Carol Moore, Peggy Myers, Barbara Ort, and Linda Welch.

Six of C. B. school records were broken this spring. The pull-up record remains intact, but all other events have been bettered. The event, record, and record holder (s) follow:

Situps, 400, Sandy Nelson; Shuttle Run 8.9—Paula Lucas, Kathy Braznock, Phoebe Williams, Jayne Henry, Janis Good; Standing Broad Jump 7'8"—Paula Lucas, Mary Frederick; Softball Throw 158'—Ruth Hager; 50 Yard Dash 6.3—Paula Lucas, Happy Biggs; 600 Yard Run-Walk 1.41—Linda Nixon.

CULTURE COUNTS

Some of the most sophisticated people these days are acquiring a great taste for some of the old homespun-type of dairy products, known and loved by our grandparents out on the family farm. These are the so-called "cultured" products, with the off-beat, somewhat tangy flavors that are delightfully subtle and intriguing.

For those of us who have long enjoyed the remarkable trio of cultured products — buttermilk, sour cream and yogurt — the recent upswing in popularity of these items appears but as a well deserved reward.

In recent U. S. Department of Agriculture study, the major chain stores of the nation reported a sharp increase of sales of sour cream during the three-year period 1957-59. Their customers bought 11.7 percent more sour cream in 1958 than a year earlier, and 25.6 percent more in 1959 than in 1958. U. S. sales of sour cream during 1957 totaled 73 million pounds.

The smooth, cultured products are real warm weather favorites. Just out of the refrigerator, they're cool and refreshing, just the right thing for a light meal or snack. A chilled glass of buttermilk can be so pleasant when temperatures start climbing! It's perfect for any meal of the day and for mid-morning or afternoon or even for evening pick-me-ups. Yogurt, either plain or flavored, is equally appropriate, but a bit more full-bodied. Sour cream can be either a luncheon main dish or a dessert for it's often served with berries, fresh or canned peaches and other fruit, as well as with spring garden vegetables, or other combinations.

The cultured products have other uses, too. Buttermilk pancakes and waffles and an assortment of biscuits, cookies, cakes, and pastries are exceptionally pleasing. Try this Chocolate-Buttermilk Waffles recipe recommended by Department of Agriculture home economists, about as tempting a breakfast or after-theatre dish as you're likely to find.

Beat 3 egg yolks. Gradually add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cooled melted butter and 2 cups buttermilk, and mix well. Sift together 2 cups sifted flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon baking soda and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt. Add liquid to the dry ingredients. Mix only until the batter is smooth. Beat 3 egg whites until peaks form. Fold whites into batter. Pour batter into preheated waffle baker. Sprinkle with semi-sweet chocolate pieces, allowing $\frac{1}{4}$ cup per waffle. Serve piping hot with a sprinkling of confectioner's sugar or a scoop of vanilla ice cream. Serves 8.

Sour cream will add subtle flavor and rich texture to sauces and salad dressings, and to omelets and many cakes. Cabbage-sour cream cole slaw, combining two plentiful, is a fine garnish for either meat, poultry or fish dishes. Combine equal amounts of sour cream and mayonnaise. Season with lemon juice, celery seed, sugar, cayenne and salt. Add pineapple tidbits if desired. Pour over shredded cabbage and serve.

If you're looking for an unusual but easy-to-make dessert, Orange-Yogurt Pudding is for you. Prepare 1 package of a favorite vanilla pudding mix as directed, using 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ cups plain yogurt as part of the required liquid. Stir in 1 tablespoon orange juice. Chill in parfait glasses or custard cups. Serve with a brown sugar or maple syrup topping. Serves 4.

Portable Pool Owners on Proper Sanitation Measures

That sound of running water that you hear is that of millions of families filling backyard swimming and wading pools in preparation for a summer full of fun and splashing. In many neighborhoods there is hardly a family on the block that doesn't have a portable plastic or canvas pool set up for the kids as soon as the first really warm days arrive.

Unfortunately, however, unless simple precautions are observed, these pools can become the breeding place for algae and bacteria which may reach a dangerous level. A statement on this subject has recently been released by Dr. David E. Overton, Commissioner of the Suffolk County, New York, Department of Health. Dr. Overton says: "Small temporary fill and draw type backyard swimming pools probably constitute the most hazardous type of bathing facility insofar as bacteriological contamination is concerned. These pools should be emptied and cleaned frequently. During their use a chlorine residual should be maintained in the water at all times. Chlorine sanitizers are a cheap and effective method for the destruction of bacteria and through their residual effect provide a lasting protecting."

By all means enjoy your portable pool to the fullest, but don't risk needless water contamination when the risk is so easy to avoid, through the use of chlorine sanitizers.

J. EDGAR MOORE RETIRES

On May 18, 1961 The Bucks County Bar Association honored at a special dinner, Retired Court Stenographer, J. Edgar Moore, after 34 years of service to the Bucks County Courts. The Bar Association presented Mr. Moore with a painting of "The Old Court House" painted by local artist Harriet Ermintrout.

J. Edgar Moore was born on September 29, 1895, in Doylestown Township, in what is now known as Buttonwood Manor. His father was William L. Moore and his mother was Sylvia K. Hoffman Moore. He attended Doylestown Township Elementary and High School and enrolled in the Philadelphia Business College in 1911, where he took a general commercial course, including bookkeeping, stenography and related courses.

After leaving Philadelphia Business College he went into the insurance business, where he was a general agent.

In 1917 he joined the Naval Reserve Forces and was immediately called to active duty. He was assigned to the Permanent Navy General Court Marshall Board of the 4th Naval District in Philadelphia. In April of 1919 he transferred to Civil Service and in 1927 he commenced work with the Courts of Bucks County in Doylestown.

At that time the official court stenographer was Hampton G. Silcox. Mr. Moore worked under Silcox, who had been appointed to the Municipal Court of Philadelphia. Mr. Moore became the official court stenographer in October of 1930, and has occupied that position since that time until his retirement in January of 1961. The judges under whom Mr. Moore has served are William Ryan, Hiram H. Keller, C. Calvin Boyer, Edward G. Biester, Edwin H. Satterthwaite, John Eckelberry, I. Louis Rubin, Lawrence A. Monroe and John P. Fullam.

Mr. Moore married Helen Hibbard of Doylestown on February 14, 1920.

"THE BRIDGE OF YESTERDAY"

Driving down a winding lane to where the creek flows,
We'd come upon the covered bridge, bedecked with winter snows.
We'd gladly walk the horses beneath the sheltering roof
To steal a kiss, while holding hands, mid echoes of the hoof.
Tho' nights were cold, our hearts were warm;
we chanced such daring sport,
But bridges so long in the noon-day sun, by night seem so very short.
Then April came, with breath of spring,
along with the rain and flowers.
The scent of new-mown hay which lingered long behind,
Reminded us of others to whom the bridge was kind.
The children fishing from the bridge, who watched us as we wait,
Were rudely interrupted as the catfish took their bait.
I pass the spot with aching heart, where once the old bridge stood,
Where gleaming concrete meets my eye,
and not the weathered wood.
I share the secrets with the bridge of days so long ago,
Where we held hands beneath its roof,
away from winter's snow.
'Tis foolish to think of days long past,
when oaks grew on the ridge,
But cold concrete shall not replace our friend —
the covered bridge.

— Joe Raile

(Ed. Note—The above poem appeared in Portals, the publication of The Theodore Burr Covered Bridge Society of Pa. We appreciate their many nice comments on last month's Covered Bridge issue of Panorama.)

LOCAL NOTES

REPORTS OF FRAUD have been filtering into the Panorama office. A man has been soliciting business by telephone for "The Cross Keys Panorama." There is no such newspaper, and many business people in the area have been "taken-in", thinking they were buying an advertisement in The Doylestown Panorama. The "game" of these artists is to sell businessmen a story about their firm at an inflated price. The Doylestown Panorama does not solicit this type of advertising, and has reported these incidents to the authorities. We have strived to build an honest reputation for PANORAMA, and have always tried to maintain the highest standards. Whoever this phony is should be prosecuted for misrepresentation.

INTERESTING NOTE from CHARLIE HASSEMAN at Fischer & Porter in Warminster. He tells us that F & P is making available to employees free language courses after working hours. Qualified instructors in French, Spanish and German teach the classes, and they are very well attended. This is a good idea. We feel there should be a greater interest in language study, and unfortunately our school systems "soft-pedal" it to such an extent that most students can barely speak good English, let alone a foreign tongue.

LIONS TO PRESENT 20TH ANNUAL SUMMER BAND CONCERTS

Once again this year, residents of the Central Bucks area will be treated to five programs of summer band music. Dates for the concerts are July 4, July 13, July 20, July 27, and August 3. All concerts will be held at War Memorial Field, Doylestown, starting at 8 p.m. In the event of rain, performances will be given in the Central Bucks High School auditorium.

Leading off the series of programs on the 4th of July will be the well-known Quakertown Band, complete with soloists. Other concerts will be given by Central Bucks students under the direction of Walter Harvie. Appearing with the students as master of ceremonies will be WCAU's well-known disc jockey, Ed Harvey.

Lion President George Carver, in making the announcement, stressed that this project is presented for the betterment of the community. First, it provides the local residents with delightful entertainment. Second, and most important, it gives valuable experience to the students who perform. These young men and women are compensated by the Lions for each practice session and concert in which they participate.

The community band concerts were started during World War II by the Doylestown Chamber of Commerce to help sell war bonds. For a number of years following the war they were sponsored by the Doylestown Civic Club. When this organization ceased to function in 1953, the project was taken over by the Doylestown Lions.

As in the past, local residents and merchants are helping the Lions underwrite the costs of the concerts. While there is no admission charge, any donation that people attending care to make is greatly appreciated.

Lion John Crean, the 1961 concert chairman, extends to all residents a most cordial invitation to enjoy this good music under the stars. In addition to being entertained, you'll also be offering encouragement to the boys and girls who work so hard to put on worthwhile programs.

WARNING!

BE CAREFUL AND BEWARE. The state is checking all over the county this week for unlicensed dogs. Don't take chances, best get your pooch a license.

Strikes me, the folks that keep recallin' how far a dollar used to go, forget to what lengths they used to have to go to get one.

of Science and Agriculture. . . . Registration day for the incoming freshman class is next June 19, announces Public Relations Director McGurk. . . . June 19 (Monday) should be "a hot meeting" for Doylestown Borough Council when we hope the local "parking mess" will be well filtered.

OUR WOMEN: So far as this Rambler is concerned, the most important June date this year is the SEVENTEENTH (a bright and comfortable one, I hope), a day set aside for the first annual VILLAGE FAIR, sponsored by the Junior Women's Club of Doylestown, for the benefit of the Doylestown Hospital. As a graduate of the surgery ward of our fine hospital (thanks to the technique of Surgeon William Y. Lee and his associates), I want to recommend that all Central Bucks County folks make it a MUST to spend a part of the June 17th date at Doylestown War Memorial Field to help boost the income of our fine hospital, owned and operated by the ladies of the Village Improvement Association.

IN WARTIME: The grand ladies of today, who are staging our hospital benefit, are simply carrying out the customs of their predecessors of many years ago in Bucks county. We have abundant evidence that during the Civil War the women of Solebury, Buckingham, Durham and other townships of Bucks County, spent many weary hours in scraping lint, preparing bandages and clothing for the soldiers, as well as providing them with special articles of food. Previous to the battle of Trenton, Washington was quartered at Keith Farm, at the foot of Jericho Mountain, two miles from the place where he and his army crossed the Delaware. The women then, as they now do, as owners of our hospital, make it possible to nurse and care for the rapidly increasing number of ill and injured folks being admitted daily.

OFF THE CUFF: It only costs a "lone buck" for a year, so why not send along that subscription to a 100 percent local news media, Doylestown Panorama? Burglars were at work on West Oakland Ave. recently, where the loot amounted to considerable. We have read nothing about it in the newspapers, although the D-Town police admit the burglary was committed.

Don't forget Father's Day, June 18. Take your pick from the numerous suggestions offered in Doylestown store windows . . . If you want to see some of the old-timers in "photo form," stop in at Rex Brown's Monument Square Tavern where you will be certain to get a refresher course. . . . We said it before and we will say it again, Bucks County, with a new $7,000,000 courthouse setup, needs a director of public information just as soon as we go into the third class operating status.

Doylestown's one and only Herb (River Seal) Stone, whose good wife is a nurse at our hospital, solved the herring invasion of the Delaware River along the Bucks county shore recently. . . . Herb brought back home a hundred pounds of the little fishes, and planted them around his rose bushes at No. 1 Linden Terrace, Doylestown, for fertilizing purposes. . . . Old leather shoes and belts, or a set of discarded harness, will also bring the same results when it comes to growing gorgeous roses.

C. B. ELECTIONS HELD

Students of Central Bucks High School elect their class and Student Council officers on official Bucks County Voting Machines, a further way of training the students in good citizen practices. The machines are borrowed from the county for the purpose.

Recently, the 1961-62 elections were held, with the following results: For Student Council—Jeff Jacoby, pres.; Joanne Jorgensen, vice-pres.; Faye Alderfer, rec. sec.; Judy Davis, cor. sec.; Jim O'Neil, treas.; for 12 grade—Tom Oberhuber, pres.; Bob DeValentino, vice-pres.; Peggy Boyer, sec.; Fred Goldberg, treas.; for 11th grade—Wayne Transue, pres.; John Fulmer, vice-pres.; Rita Barnes, sec.; Wolfgang Pohl, treas.; for 10th grade—John Shobert, pres.; James Duckett, vice-pres.; Diane Rush, rec. sec.; Barbara Ort, cor. sec.; Richard Spotts, treas.

being a "first" in art. She was a first to enter a new course at the University of Pennsylvania, for a Bachelor in Fine Art degree.

She was the first woman to teach in the Fine Arts School of U. P. She taught summer sessions there and lectured in the Philadelphia Art Museum.

Miss Woerner was in the first group of women to study at Princeton U. during W. W. II. Mapmaking was her major project.

She was one of the first scholarship students at the Barnes Foundation.

See what I mean? And there are probably other "firsts" yet to come.

Besides being an acclaimed person in the above fields, Helen Woerner made a place for herself in the annals of needlepoint and tapestry.

She has had an extensive education also; University of Pa., Ecole de Beaux. Art in France, School of Designing for Women and School of Industrial arts, Phila., and the Cleveland School of Art, just to name a few.

Miss Woerner has travelled throughout Europe and the U. S. where she studied tapestry, embroidery and furniture design.

She spent several years on lecture-tours in the U. S. lecturing on the art of needlepoint.

At the close of our chat I found that Miss Woerner has another "first" in mind. She would like to start a school of art in Bucks. Not just to teach a person how to draw a picture, but to teach them to open their eyes to shapes, colors, etc. Helen doesn't want to teach students how to create, but she will give you the basic principles and you do the creating.

So, if any of you have a talent for art and want to follow it through, I think Helen Woerner's art school will be a good place to learn. Helen and I talked only for a few minutes and I walked away with a better knowledge of art than what little I've learned previously in my life.—M.R.

CHIEF TAMENEND INDIAN PEACEMAKER

described as extending "backwards" to the utmost bounds of the province."

The domain of his tribe was on both sides of the Delaware but his overlordship extended over parts of New York and Maryland and indefinitely west.

In 1694, when the Iroquois were scheming to have the Delawares attack the settlers, he said at a council in Philadelphia:

"We and the Christians of this river have always had a free roadway to one another and though a tree has fallen across the path, yet we have removed it and kept the way clear. We purpose to continue the old friendship that has been, between us and you."

According to local history his grave lies near a spring three-fourths of the distance south easterly from the wooded hill toward the Upper State Road. The plot is owned by the Bucks County Historical Society.

It is said that about 1749 the aged and infirm chief, while being carried by his followers to a conference with the proprietaries halted near the spring. The Indians, weary of their burden, left the old man in charge of an Indian girl and moved on to the meeting place. The venerable chief was so distressed to find himself deserted and ignored that he tried to commit suicide by stabbing himself. When his trembling hand failed to thrust the knife with effect he set fire to his bed of leaves and threw himself upon it. His followers, refused a hearing because of the absence of their chief, returned to find him dead. His body was buried by white men, some of whose descendants are still living in Bucks County.

The memory of the great chief is still held in reverence by those remaining of his tribe. If his name has become dim in the annals of the white man, the head of the Indian still occupies an important place in American life to testify to the good service he rendered to his own people and to the whites. That, while he endeavored to live in peace with all men, he would suffer neither wrong nor abuse nor submit to a loss of his liberty or his rights.

I love my job—I only hate the work.

It is getting so that the definition of rain is the Duryea Hill Climb. EPSCC once again ran into their old nemesis when they sponsored their annual race against the clock up the famed Duryea Hill. However, local drivers came away with their share of silver in spite of the damp roads. JIM SHARPBACK finally picked up some silver with his now famous TC by placing third in HPerformance. BOB FRANCE and BOB STROUP both placed second in F Performance and Touring Classes respectively and thereby put NRSCC high in the competitive standings. We were looking for the name of ELWOOD JONES on the list of winners but the TR just refused to turn in the desired performance.

NORM COOK of OYRSCC came through in usual fashion as he placed first in E Performance with his Twin-Cam "A". While not placing, JEAN STROUP is to be commended on a fine drive as a complete novice in the same VOLVO that her husband drove to a second place victory.

Even though I was too late to get enough Rally Picks for the month, I have to mention THE PROGRAMMED EVENING by the BSCC on June 24th. This is the annual event planned by ED FRANGISH which has achieved a reputation for being just a little bit different. While ED does not use any "gimmicks," he still succeeds in giving the entrants a night to remember. I have tried to get some advance information from this esteemed Rallymaster, but to no avail. All he keeps repeating is, "Come to the Lower Makefield Elementary School at 6:30 p.m. and find out for yourself."

Reports from the VIRGINIA REEL indicate that the FBI had to be called in to locate Rallypros PAUL ELY and JOE GRAUBARD after they got lost on this time test through the Blue Ridge Mountains. I don't know how true it is but the report continued to state that several of the local natives mistook their car full of electronic timing devices for "still detecting gadgets" and chased them all the way to North Carolina.

LOWER BUCKS SCC have an event planned for Sunday, July 2nd, under the direction of their Chairman, Hilton Goodman. HILT in planning to start from DUTCH'S DINNER on Route 611 opposite the Naval Base at approximately 12:30 p.m. This looks like it would be a good warm up for NESHAMINY'S All Nighter the following week.

A look around... Meyer's Sport Car Center not only moving cars but also the location of the Center. One of the local "boys" was heard saying "Where, oh where, did the little Sports Car Center go?" FRAN GRAUBARD back from Pittsburgh preparing the way for JOE if he ever finds his way back from Virginia JACK FETTEROLF getting set to run the FOUR HOUR at Vine-land with NORM COOK By the way, have you seen the new Sprite? Really a big step in the right direction How did Adelaide SHARPBACK get 10,000 miles on her Corvair since Feb-

FIRE CRACKER RALLY

The Lower Bucks Sports Car Club will sponsor the "July Fire-cracker Rally" on July 2, 1961, according to Hilton Goodman of the club. The starting point will be Dutch's Diner, Route 611, Hallowell, opposite the Naval Air Station, and the first car will be off by 10 a.m. There will be a picnic at the finish, and entrants are to "bring their own goodies."

The entry fee for the rally is $2.00 for club members, and $2.50 for non-members. For further information, contact Hilton Goodman at TU 4-4980 or Frank Horn, OS 5-3700.

TIMBUCKTOO IN BUCKS COUNTY

Timbucktoo was the name of an early settlement of negroes in Middletown Township, and now within the bounds of Langhorne. It was located in that part of town around what is now the intersection of Pine Street and Flowers Avenue. The name is derived from that of a town in Africa. In Bucks County the name is sometimes spelled "Tom-buctoo."—Place Names in Bucks County

GARDENVILLE REVISITED

Editor of Panorama

Dear Sir:

Your published picture of the Gardenville black-smith shop has awakened many memories.

During school years my walks led past this spot daily. I cannot date the picture, but all save the sign on the telephone pole is familiar as I knew Gardenville up to 1912.

At the turn of the century James Higgins was the black-smith. Contrary to the popular idea that a smith is a man of brawn, "Jimmy" was rather slight in features and stature. His work was excellent. So were his viewpoints. He was well informed and keenly concerned in questions of the day.

Some of his smith work is still in my possession. When a youngster, one of my many duties was the daily task of replenishing the wood-box. Wood was the all-purpose fuel at our home. To glamorize the chore, my father built a half-size wheel barrow for the many trips between wood-shed and house. The forging of the metal tire for the wheel and the mounting of it was done at Higgins' blacksmith and wheelwright shop. That sturdy little wheel barrow far outlasted my childhood chore and it has lent itself to endless uses through the years. Proudly it wears its faded original coat of paint, plus many scars of service.

The girl standing at the corner of the shop is one of Jimmy's daughters. I believe it is Ruth.

The frame portion of the building shown in the picture was the wheelwright shop. I can picture the man who worked there but cannot remember his name. Later the shop was used by Levi Morris.

Beyond the shop was a well kept garden. From this garden the village derived its name. Earlier it was known as Prince's Corner.

If the large willow tree were still standing it would probably be well centered in the present route of the Durham Road (R. 413).

The picket fence on two sides of the tree enclosed a small field where various public functions were held. Particularly do I remember the strawberry and ice cream festivals. The field was a part of the splendid farm of Nathaniel Fretz, who, with his sons, Ed and Dan, were avid horsemen, and conducted occasional horse sales.

Frequent cattle sales were held by Isaiah Clossen at the hotel stock-yards. The yards, or pens, were situated along the Pt. Pleasant Pike opposite the blacksmith shop and extended from near the hotel to the former union chapel.

The small portion of white rail fence at the extreme left of the picture is the side enclosure of an outside hay scale which occupied space adjacent to the hitching area in front of the General Store.

North of the store and warehouse along the Durham Road was the creamery. In one of his books, Dr. Cornelius Weygandt mentioned this creamery as a good place to stop for excellent butter.

By today's standards I suppose a community such as this would seem too quiet and dull. I cannot speak for Gardenville and its interests today, but in the early 1900's it was a busy little spot and a grand place to call "home."

MY WIFE!

"It all started one night. I came tip-toeing into the house about 3 a.m. There she was in all her fierce, sweet lovable glory. WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN? WHAT have you been doing? etc., etc., etc. (You married men know the rest of the tale.)

"Strange as it may seem, the thing that had upset her most was that EVERY other husband on the block had subscribed to the PANORAMA for their wives (something I had neglected to do). The neighbors knew ALL the local news, and my "ever lovin" didn't. WHAT A CATASTROPHE! Naturally I subscribed. Who is going to argue with a woman with a rolling pin?

"Ever since that fateful evening, my life has been peaceful. The rolling pin has been sent back to mother (hers), and wifey (bless her heart) is now up to date on all the local news happenings "Around Town."

MEN! Don't let the above situation occur in your house! Make your home life happy again! Give your wife a subscription to PANORAMA. It's only a buck, and it will be the best investment you ever made. We'll send a gift card to her for you, if you like. You'll find that it beats candy and flowers every time. Act now, before she swings with the rolling pin again!
